

As our local communities continue to develop and expand, it has become more practical for children to either ride the school bus or carpool with others to school each day. However, during this COVID-19 pandemic more preventive measures need to be implemented to keep everyone healthy and safe.

- If your child rides the bus, make sure they are aware that they must wear a mask and the mask should remain on the entire time.
- Talk with your children about the importance of following the seat spacing rules on the bus and to make sure to follow bus rules.
- If carpooling is an option for your child, speak with the driver to ensure everyone inside the car wear masks.
- If your school recommends using cohort for transportation (all students riding together attend the same school), make sure that you and your child abide by the practice which may:

- Decrease opportunities for exposure to or transmission of COVID-19
- Enable contact tracing more efficiently in the event of a positive case
- Allow for targeted testing, quarantining or isolation of a single member in the event of a positive case.
